

English elegy by a student of Shaykh

A Poem in the remembrance of Shaykh Yunus saheb Rahmatullahi alayhi:

Shaykhul Hadeeth Allamah Yunus Jaunpuri
Forty years plus he had taught Bukhari

The servant of Allah and
A true inheritor of Rasulullah

A mountain of knowledge and piety
A reformer of individuals and society

An erudite scholar and master of Hadeeth
He rejected the dunya and discarded it beneath

Tirmidhi, Abu Dawud, Bukhari or Muslim,
None enjoyed such books as much as him

He dedicated himself to Hadeeth and teaching
He gave his life no other meaning

Wife, children, family and marriage
He shunned all for the sake of spreading knowledge

Till late into the night,
Shaykh would keep the candle alight

So that he may serve Allah's deen, and guide every young, old and teen.

I was lucky to meet him on many an occasion
And it would only increase my love and admiration

Once in Madinah, I was a guest at his table
His love for the Sunnah was clearly visible

A million gathered at his funeral
To pray that Allah makes his bliss eternal

We pray that Allah gives him the best in the hereafter
May he be in peace, happiness, and laughter

He devoted his life to serve the Ummah
May he be elevated to the highest of Jannah

Ameen
